It is May, 1705, and you are a captain in the Royal Navy, commanding the H.M.S. Triton. You are on patrol in the Mediterranean, mostly between Spain and Corsica.

You are from Plymouth, Devon. Your wife is Mary Taylor, and your twelve-year-old son is Joseph Taylor. Your Prize Agent is Sir Harcourt Master.

You were born in 1663. You joined the merchant service in 1673 and the Royal Navy on March 26 1690. You were appointed Captain of your first ship, the Charles Gally, a 36-gun frigate, on February 15 1702. You took command of the Triton on November 20 of last year.

You are 42. There is always war. In 1705 the War of the Spanish Succession pits France and Spain (who support the Bourbon Philip, Duke of Anjou) against England, Austria, and the Dutch Republic (who supporting the Habsburg Archduke Charles of Austria).

You receive five shares of any prize moneys for captured enemies.

Contact: You have a spy in the Marine Royale, Louis Armoir, currently First Mate on the l'Entreprenante which is also in these waters.

Secret Loyalty: The character secretly serves a powerful NPC, Joshua Dawson. You are one of his informants in the Royal Navy, especially with regards to the presence of Roman Catholics transporting Priest Hunters and informing on the movements of Catholic priests to and from the British Isles.

Shipboard Weapons: Includes daggers, cutlasses, and longswords. Depends heavily on cuts and slashes. Receive +1 bonus to hit when using slash attack.
